DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(b) because they are incomplete. 37 CFR 1.83(b) reads as follows:

When the invention consists of an improvement on an old machine the drawing must when possible exhibit, in one or more views, the improved portion itself, disconnected from the old structure, and also in another view, so much only of the old structure as will suffice to show the connection of the invention therewith.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Figures 1 and 2 appear to be representations of the various working parts of the applicant's invention. From these figures, it is not clear to the examiner the exact layout of the folding and tucking jaws, spider mechanisms and the proper operation of the adjusting mechanism.

Figures 3 and 4 appear to be gearing schematics, which the specification relies heavily on to explain the applicant's invention and to which the examiner is not able to interpret the adjusting mechanism and parts that are pertinent the applicants invention.

Claim Objections

2. The numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126 which requires the original numbering of the claims to be preserved throughout the prosecution. When claims are canceled, the remaining claims must not be renumbered. When new claims are presented, they must be numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the highest numbered claims previously presented (whether entered or not).

Misnumbered claim 6-12 have been renumbered 7-13.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claim 1-7,12 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

The specification and the drawings do not adequately show how the collect cylinder and the jaw cylinder function in relation to each other, the operation of the jaws on the jaw cylinder, the setting of the independently movable jaw, the mounting and supporting of the jaws on the spider and the operation of the adjusting center or gear.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 11/19/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant has submitted marked up copies of the drawings as well as an explanation of the invention. However, the examiner contends that one in the ordinary skill in the art could not make or understand the invention claimed due mainly to two reasons. Firstly, the specification relies heavily on figures 3 and 4, which appear to be a gearing arrangement schematic. While the applicant has corrected the drawing reference number discrepancies, the examiner cannot ascertain how the adjusting mechanism works in the present invention from figures 3 and 4. The examiner asserts that new drawings are needed which show the aspects of the applicant's invention more clearly such as figures of the adjusting apparatus itself, which could include a cross section. The examiner will not consider the submission of drawings to constitute new matter since there is support in the specification for the various parts.

Secondly, in the arguments, applicant refers the examiner to a co-pending application for an understanding of phasing centers and for an understanding of spiders. The examiner asserts that if the above matter is essential to the understanding of the invention, then it should have been included in the detailed description of the invention and not included as a reference.

Therefore, for the reasons indicated above, the rejection is deemed proper.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
